Hi Kari Lapp,

I've just opened up tickets for you based on our conversation last week. I'll slowly start working through the one and update you as I go. I think this is the only one where I'll need your help to get going. Do you have embed snippets for the book rivers you'd like on the front page, or will you need my help logging into the catalog and generating/getting those?

Best,

Hi, Mason!

You probably heard me mention that patrons want more tai chi classes. I have heard back from the tai chi instructor, and she is on board, so as long as attendance remains good (7+ participants per class), we'll offer tai chi 4 times a month. If attendance dips to 5 or fewer participants per class, we reassess and likely cut back to twice a month.

Can you check your Rising Star events to make sure I can book the meeting room from 11-noon? In April, I need to add the 21st. In May, the 5th and the 19th. In June, I need the 2nd & 16th.

Subject: [core eforum] February e Forum Summary Tips and Best Practices to Guide in Training New and New to Their Role Personnel

Hello,

Below is our summary. Thank you for a great discussion!

Summary: Tips and Best Practices to Guide in Training New and New to Their Role Personnel

This e-Forum was held on February 7-8, 2023. It was moderated by Melissa Brooks from the University of Southern Mississippi Libraries and Megan Heady from West Virginia University Libraries.

We asked attendees eight sets of questions during the e-forum.

How do you identify training needs in your department or unit for new and current employees?

Some of the responses included sending out a survey to staff and managers (attached); reviewing standards, trends, and core competencies to compare to current position descriptions and skills in the department; having 1:1 meetings with staff to discuss their goals for professional development; reviewing work completed to look for knowledge gaps; and maintaining awareness of training opportunities to share with staff. The Tilmor Process was mentioned as a useful way to identify training needs or gaps in workflows. Two other suggestions were to review old problem reports and resolved tickets for both training and documentation creation and to use customer interactions to identify needs.

How do you organize training for new staff? What tools do you find helpful in conducting training (virtually and in-person)?

Participants said they use spreadsheets and checklists to organize training and onboarding for new staff. One suggestion was to have team members go through their usual day or week to compile steps or topics needed. Arranging shadowing sessions and training sessions with experienced staff were also recommended. Some of the tools cited included Trello Boards, LibGuides, shared documentation, and video meetings with screen sharing for virtual training. Vanderbilt linked to their Alma documentation to share with others, <https://docs.library.vanderbilt.edu/>.

What are some techniques that you utilize for determining learning styles, and do you adjust training structures accordingly? Do you provide multiple methods such as hands on, training videos, classes, etc.?

Having conversations with staff to discuss their preferred learning styles was recommended and trying different methods to see what works if someone does not know their style. It was also suggested that styles may vary depending on the content being taught, for example, technical training vs. theoretical.

What are your go-to resources for training new and existing employees? This can include online classes or courses, webinars, training materials from LMS, conferences, etc.

Several resources were recommended. These included listservs, classes, YouTube, podcasts, state and regional associations, webinars, consortia, and vendor training material. Utilizing training provided by your university was also cited. Here are some links that were provided:

- ALA Core - <https://www.youtube.com/@ALACore>
- ALCTS - <https://www.youtube.com/@alctsce>
- Core Fundamentals classes and webinars - <https://www.ala.org/alcts/confevents/upcoming/webcourse>
- Library of Congress Classification online training - <https://www.loc.gov/catworkshop/lcc/index.html>
- Library Juice classes - <https://libraryjuiceacademy.com/>

- <https://gla.georgialibraries.org/carterette-series-webinars/>
- In the Library with a Leadpipe
- Infopleople
- <https://www.nnlm.gov/training/schedule>

What assessment tools are beneficial in measuring learning outcomes? How do you assess a person's learning and the effectiveness of the tool/resource? How do you gain feedback on training? How do you measure your training success and incorporate feedback to make improvements?

We discussed conducting post-training reviews, having conversations after attending training, and reviewing work completed after training. Another participant provided the slip they use after training as a tool for assessment.

where students are asked to fill in three things something you learned, something you already knew, and something you want to know more about.

We have talked about training across the board, now let's look at when training doesn't produce the results you have expected. What are some ways in which you have handled reteaching skill sets or covering unexpected gaps in training?

Trying something new was recommended when older methods are not working. Scavenger hunts or other games were also suggested to make learning fun. Creating LibGuides and interactive tutorials with tools such as Articulate that incorporate quizzes to assess learning were also discussed

What tips do you have for training that we haven't talked about yet?

he last piece of advice offered was to maintain contacts and a professional network. It's helpful to be reminded that you are not alone and staying connected with colleagues will aid in that.

Subject: Employee of the Month Nominations March

Good Morning,

It's that time again! Each month staff can nominate employees to win employee of the month. There is a list of rules to go by below. The winner gets a special parking spot close to the building, they will also become famous because their picture will hang at the front circulation desk and have exclusive bragging rights!

- 1. We need nominations from Benton and Bryant
- 2. Anyone can make a nomination
- 3. You can nominate more than one person
- 4. You can NOT nominate yourself
- 5. You can re-nominate someone you nominated before if they did not win
- 6. If someone has won before, they can win again (especially with limited staffing in Bryant)
- 7. Please fill out the attached form and email me

Winners will be selected by the executive committee and announced February 28th

Please have your nominations in to me by February 24th

Last year total, we ordered 1,515 shirts. We gave out 1,224 shirts.

- XS - 130
- S - 140
- M - 140
- L - 135
- S - 205
- 200
- L - 220
- L - 160
- 2XL - 120
- 3XL - 40
- 4XL - 25

We ran out of YXS, YS, and YM. I know part of the problem with the smalls was that we gave people needed XS and S when we ran out. I'm not sure what we ran out of in adult sizes. I think we can probably get away with ordering the same amount of shirts, but we need to redistribute what we ordered a little.

I would recommend that he contact the Arkansas Library Association to send a message through their listserv:

Hey Mason, I am sorry to hear that, we certainly had a bunch of people that used them, I don't know the quantity of them you all had remaining but are you all open to cutting down the number of tickets though and maybe splitting it up 1,500 for June and 1,500 for the August date if you didn't give them all out this last year which I was unaware of unfortunately otherwise I would have offered to help?

Is there something different you think would be beneficial so that we don't have to reach out to a bunch of libraries individually?

I would be happy to brainstorm some options or

A LibraryWorks presentation ...

Strategies for Outreach to Marginalized Populations

March 9, 2023; 2:00-3:00PM Eastern

The dedicated people who work in libraries support their patrons in many ways. Perhaps one of the most important, and least visible, population segments they assist are marginalized peoples. When those in the LGBTQ+ or homeless communities seek out guidance, libraries are there. But if you want to proactively offer services to them, or to BIPOC teens, disabled individuals, and others, how can you reach them?

This session will teach you the basics of outreach communication, then show you how to apply them to get your messages to those in need, even if they don't have email or internet service. After this webinar, you will:

- Know how and why to separate populations into “target audiences”
- Understand the importance of basic audience research
- Be able to craft attention-getting messages
- Know where to place messages so they'll be seen, online and offline
- Have ideas for helpful partnerships

These strategies will be especially helpful to those who don't have prior communications training, or who don't have a plan and / or a budget for outreach. Even solo librarians can benefit. Any library worker will leave this session with more knowledge and confidence in communicating with hard-to-reach segments of their communities. LEVEL: BEGINNER

Presenter: Kathy Dempsey wrote the popular how-to book The Accidental Library Marketer and founded her own marketing consultancy, Libraries Are Essential. I tend to think patrons will be encouraged to exaggerate their familiarity with telescopes if we were to add it to the LoT as something for advanced amateur astronomers. If the box weren't damaged, I'd suggest giving it away as a prize before the eclipse. We could also use it as a prop to raise awareness for the upcoming eclipse. Amanda found another telescope in storage I haven't looked at it, nor does anyone seem to know where it came from or what it was used for by the library. Going by the size and shape of the carrying case, the second telescope is probably also not suitable for novice astronomers. It definitely isn't the kind of telescope recommended by ASGC and CAAS for libraries.

Kari,

It looks like the donated telescope is not ideal for novice users (which I'd expect most of our patrons to be). Not sure where we want to go from here, but Darcy Howard provided some insight and details below. She's going to get more info for us on the library telescope program funded by the Arkansas Space Grant Consortium and CAAS, so that we can add a telescope to our LoT. Links to 2 options available on Amazon below.

Hi Susie,

We'd love to give a program at your library! Our calendar is filling up fast, so are you thinking about a certain day or time? Today our April, May and June calendar is fairly open, so suggest a couple of days that work for you and we'll see what we can do.

I'll attach a couple of pdfs that tell you what we are doing - and we love libraries!

About the telescope, an EQ, (equatorial mount) is not the easiest for a novice to use. Our group recommends the

Orion 10015 StarBlast 4.5 Astro Reflector Telescope

It is available from Amazon, and is easy to use and to put in a car. The Arkansas Space Grant Consortium and CAAS have a library telescope program. I'm haven't worked with that program but ASGC has provided funding for telescopes and CAAS has helped maintain them. I will talk with the coordinator and find out more for you.

The eclipse glasses partnership didn't work out, but I did share our design with photos by CAAS astrophotographers. The State Library put their logos on top of the design, of course.

My colleague Carl Freyaldenhoven and I will be working with the Arkansas State Library and their SEAL (solar eclipse activities for libraries) program and the circulating science kits. We're pretty jazzed about that. Carl gave an eclipse program at SCL back in 2017.

Looking forward to seeing you again,
Darcy

Hi, Darcy!

I am reaching out to you to see if you or another CAAS member would be willing to do a program in April, May, or June on what a solar eclipse is and why the upcoming solar eclipse in April 2024 is a REALLY big deal especially for us in Arkansas.

Also: A patron donated a telescope to the library—a Celestron AstroMaster 130EQ MD. We'd like to determine whether this telescope can be added to our Library of Things (LoT) for patrons to check out or not. We're trying to establish just how user-friendly this telescope is for pure amateurs to use for stargazing on their own.

We're you and CAAS able to find enough partner for the eclipse glasses?

Hey, Anna! We are having our CED meeting today at noon and are going out to eat. I know you guys are short staffed with the recent changes. You are more than welcome to come but I don't want you to feel like you have to or that you have to be rushed. If you want, I can go over our notes from the meeting we had last week and I can talk about any other things you would like me to talk about.

Oh! And during my weekly meeting with Fran, we talked about putting the seed library new seeds on the calendar when they drop if you want. I know getting more seed library patrons is not our main goal but it will bring more attention to the program.

Subject: upcoming solar science workshops

The Arkansas State Library is excited to announce a series of workshops in partnership with the Space Science Institute!

On April 8, 2024, North America will experience an incredible natural event that has been dubbed the Great North American Eclipse. Two-thirds of the state of Arkansas will be in the path of totality and the rest of the state will experience 95% of totality. These workshops will prepare public library staff to provide solar science programming in the library for children and adults ahead of the April 2024 eclipse.

Training will be provided by Anne Holland and Stephanie Vierow-Fields of the Space Science Institute.

Beginning the week of April 13, 2023, the Arkansas State Library will begin circulating eight solar science kits to libraries for use in library programming. Although not required, attendance at one of these workshops is strongly recommended for those wishing to borrow a solar science programming kit.

Event Information

Dates: March 7, 8, & 9

Time: 10 a.m. 4 p.m.

Audience: Public library staff interested in solar science and eclipse programming

Registration Deadline: Open until filled

Online pre registration is required, and registration is limited to 35 participants per location. Content is the same on all three days.

Locations

Crawford County Library -- March 7

1409 Main St, Van Buren, AR 72956

Garland County Library March 8

1427 Malvern Ave, Hot Springs, AR 71901

Craighead County-Jonesboro Public Library -- March 9

Subject: Traveling Exhibition - "John Bell, Jr.: A Painted Legacy"

About John Bell, Jr.

John Bell, Jr. displayed artistic creativity from a young age and drew inspiration from Renoir, Jacques-Louis David, and Edouard Leon Cortes. From these sources, Bell crafted his unique approach and style, documenting 19th- and 20th-century Fort Smith history with a romantic eye. Bell spent his time developing his skills as an artist and also overcoming the perceptual bias that faced people with physical challenges. Through his life-long advocacy, Bell helped raise awareness of accessibility issues.

Because of his focus on artistic achievement, his discipline, his creativity, and his stubborn refusal to let his physical challenges impede his progress, Bell became Fort Smith's most famous artist and a force for positive change.

John Bell, Jr.: A Painted Legacy* from the Fort Smith Regional Art Museum, is now being made available for presentation at museums, libraries and public venues for years 2024 - 2026.

Please find the Exhibition Prospectus attached.

I look forward to hearing your thoughts on this amazing exhibition.

This is definitely something we can try. I don't see why we couldn't close down that one little section in between the church and the Gann because there are connecting side roads on both sides. Its a possibility but will definitely take some help with the city. One thing we can pull into the attraction is that the building is a world record setter with the bauxite bricks!

Hey Kari and Julie,

I was just talking to my Mom about my day and how we were talking about doing some sort of party for the museum. Anyways. She suggested doing a "street party," where we could close off that section of Market Street and have our celebration there. Food trucks, music, and even drinks for adults. Does that sound doable? Would the city be interested? I'll call [REDACTED] soon and see if he'd be interested in talking to you Kari. I'll look for [REDACTED] card too. He gave me one a while back.

Hi Kari Lapp,

I figured this one out! I added a small piece of javascript to check to see if the anchor link is being used, and if so the accordion immediately following the anchor link is opened. Go ahead and give a try and let me know if you need some more adjustments here: https://www.salinecountylibrary.org/about/our-library/faq/#COMPUTERS AND TECHNOLOGY

Hi all! the food pantry is completely out of food. I was hoping maybe we could plan a food drive soon? Maybe set up Games or something for the kids to encourage people to come and for parents/adults to bring food?

maybe we could also have someone come in and talk about the homeless population and the need for necessities for them?

Hi Wendy,

Our Small Fry Club is continuing to bring in some great speakers. I'm looking forward to the Saline C. Library week coming up in two weeks.

I have a couple questions for you.

a) I have these "Caught you doin' good" coupons to offer the library to use in any programs you wish. The coupon is for a free ice cream cone, cookie or package of apple slices. I'd be happy to drop some off to you.

b) Now that we're midway into our program we're getting some regular family guests and I want to see if I can attract some more families that haven't heard about it yet. Does the library have an email they send out that we could get a mention in? Next week, Mayor Tom Farmer will be coming to answer the burning question: What does a mayor do? I think it will be a unique visit and I'd love for more kiddos to come for these free events.

Thank you,

Hi Wendy,

If this is where we left off, I'm trying again. I've filled out the form. And just in case, here are the details I put in the form.

McDonald's is starting the Small Fry Club on Tuesdays at 10:45am for preschoolers at the 1023 Military Road location in Benton. Small Fry Club will kick off Tuesday, Jan. 10 and run weekly through March.

We're inviting a different guest speaker to come each week and give a 10 minute talk with some show & tell that would suit this young age group. We'll meet in the Play Place which is a glassed-in area with its own entrance from the outside. In your case, probably a book reading and a craft for the kids associated with the story would work well, But I'm absolutely open to ideas from you -- basically anything suitable for preschool-aged kids.

This is a new program we're starting, and we will promote your appearance in the weeks leading up to the event. The dates still open are: Jan. 24, Feb. 7, 14 and March 14. (I did select one date on the form, but we still have a few Tuesdays with openings.)

We will provide the library with flyers leading up to the event that the library can post and pass out.

We also have some fun coupons that you could give out to your young library patrons to remind them you'll be at McDonalds on your scheduled day. Or you can use them in other ways as you see fit.

WE ask that you bring the presentation materials suited to your talk. This may simply be the book you'll be reading. If the craft is something you have on hand - great! If we need to supply craft elements, that is doable as well.

You are welcome to bring other library materials that you'd like the preschool families to know about.

Small Fry Club meets in the Play Place and therefore we do not need rainy day alternate plans. However if there was a need to reschedule, we would simply move it to a future Tuesday.

The guest speaker could arrive by 11:40am, unless there was significant set-up involved.

As the marketing manager, my office is at 8300 Stagecoach Rd, Suite 400, Little Rock AR 72210. My office phone number is 501-386-5386.

Thank you for looking at this again.

Upcoming Saline County Lifestyles Volume 16, Issue 2

Josh Elrod <jelrod@ignite-mediagroup.com>

Wed 2/15/2023 1:27 PM

To: Kari Lapp karil@salinecountylibrary.org

Kari,

I hope you are having a great start to you week! I'm personally enjoying these 70 degree temperatures and getting excited about the warmer weather of Spring. That's exactly what spurred the new concept behind the upcoming Saline County Lifestyles (Volume 16- Issue 2) that will be themed "Let's Get Growing". This issue will have run dates of March 20th - May 22nd, which is prime planting season for all things outside! That is why we are turning our focus to features of businesses who specialize on plants, grass, produce and everything green & growing.

I wanted to send you a quick email and let you know the ad deadlines for this upcoming issue. If you have any revisions from your previous ad(s), would like our help in designing a new ad for this edition, or if you'd just like us to add a little "Christmas Spirit" to your current ad, we hope to have all new requests submitted no later than the end of day Tuesday, February 28th. If you plan to submit a "print-ready" ad, your deadline for new submissions will be the end of day the following Tuesday, March 7th.

As always, we love having your business involved with Saline County Lifestyles and we look forward to another great issue that help GROW your business. Please let me know if you have any thoughts or question, or if I can help in any way. Otherwise, I hope you have a great rest of your week and we look forward to hearing back from you soon!

Hi Kari Lapp,

I did a search of the website's content in the database, here are the pages that I found that have links to the old catalog system:

<http://www.alinecountylibrary.org/elibrary/>

<https://www.salinecountylibrary.org/about/our-library/>

<https://www.salinecountylibrary.org/about/our-library/faqs/>

<https://www.salinecountylibrary.org/elibrary/books-more/>

http://www.alinecountylibrary.org/elibrary/book_more/library_of_thing_/

<https://www.salinecountylibrary.org/services/anywhere-support/pocket-librarian/>

https://www.salinecountylibrary.org/?page_id=1466

I think every other mention of the old catalog was in an older blog post (over 50 of them), but those don't seem worth your time to update in my opinion. If you disagree I can prepare a list of those as well!

Best,

Mark Steininger

Challenging Employee Conversations Without Fear

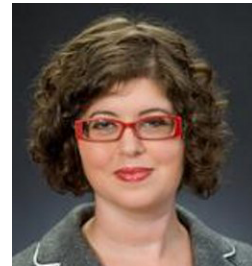

February 23, 2023; 2:00-3:00PM Eastern

You're a manager or supervisor with an employee who is missing the mark. It's your job to help them improve – but how do you approach that tough conversation? This webinar is designed to help you take the fear out of challenging interactions like performance improvement, discipline, and even termination. By preparing now, you can spend that challenging conversation focused on supporting your employee.

In this webinar, you will learn:

- How to think about and prepare for challenging conversations in a way that feels constructive and authentic
- The manager's role in providing difficult feedback or news
- How to share negative feedback in a way that people can hear

Presenter: Dr. Audrey Barbakoff is the CEO of Co/Lab Capacity, which helps libraries grow and develop through community-centered consulting. She brings more than a decade of experience in public library leadership and innovation rooted in community engagement. In addition to her MLIS she holds a doctorate in organizational change and leadership; her research focused on building capacity for equity, diversity, and inclusion in public libraries through community-led planning. Her contributions have been recognized by Library Journal Mover & Shakers, Urban Libraries Council Top Innovators, the Kitsap Peninsula Business Journal “20 Under 40” and the Freedom to Read Foundation.

Subject: Gann photos for March magazine

Hi Francesca and Kari,

Here are some photos of some things we have on permanent display. The office furniture came with the building in the 80s but it belonged to Dr. Dewell Gann, Sr. He lived from 1863 to 1945. The Niloak pottery is new. That stuff was made using kaolin clay found in the Benton area by employees of Charles "Bullet" Hyten (1877-1944). Niloak is kaolin spelled backwards. The fire poker was used by Tom Staner to murder two women in 1877. His was the last legal execution in Saline County. And the log cabin exhibit was constructed from pieces of two log cabins. The mantle is from the Pete Steele cabin on the Shaw Community (1872) and the top logs are from the Mac Staner cabin where the murders took place in 1877. Anything else you need, let me know!

Thanks,

Cody

The MABC members want less responsibility, not more. Let's get a few more meetings on the books as reassess.

I'm not all that big on doing another Potterpalooza, and I don't want to be in charge or the point person or the coordinator if you insist that we have another Potterpalooza 2023. I really think trying to do an adult HP event on the 29th of July is a bad idea because of the stuff YS is planning for that day.

No specifics on Crafts2Go or Adult Art Studio during SRC other than I will be doing them.

July 17th is National Tattoo Day. I thought a presentation on the history of tattooing would be fun and informative. think = think ink = tattoos

Cool. Here are some follow up questions:

Any ideas on the Crafts2Go and Art Studio crafts? You don't have to know them now but we will want to know before we market things in April.

What is think: History of Tattooing?

Any thoughts to my last email about MABC and getting a member to "lead" the group?

Potterpalooza- I think we keep it on July 29th. Adult programs don't do too well in the Fall and that will be the weekend before Halloween in October so things will be crazy. As far as staff participation, I don't think we will have too much trouble. I think people enjoy it because of how fun it is.

Hi, Kari --

This is what I have for event for adult during SRC

JUNE

June 5 MABC

June 9 Tai Chi

June 14 Crafts2Go

June 21 Adult Art Studio (Bryant)

June 22 Make paper Madne Batik Art

June 23 Tai Chi

June 28 Inklings

JULY

July 3 MABC

July 12 Crafts2Go

July 14 Tai Chi

July 17 thINK: History of Tattooing

July 19 Adult Art Studio (Bryant)

July 26 Inklings

July 28 Tai Chi

I think it would be a good idea to move Potterpalooza to October (Saturday, Oct. 28). Everyone will be exhausted after SRC, so July 29th or 31st is out, so is all of August. September 1st would be an option were it not Labor Day Weekend, but I think we'd be letting ourelves up for low attendance if we scheduled Potterpalooza for Friday, September 1, 2023.

I'm backend on Bingo and Gameshow for Mason and will be helping out with 3rd Thursday at least once during SRC.

Question- What do you guys think about having all the stats in one excel workbook like we do for the budget instead of so many different excel workbooks? It would just make it easier when I have to do the stat reports. So one tab would be programming, one tab outreach, one tab social media. And that way the workbook would be called 2023 CED Stats.
